Dear Mr. Castonguay,

Momentive Specialty Chemicals Inc. (MSC) is committed to using resources wisely and focusing its expertise to enhance its products and operations to improve performance and safety while minimizing environmental impact. MSC products enable numerous sustaining technologies such as wind energy, engineered wood and wood composite products from wood milling waste and low weight epoxy resin composites that increase automobile fuel efficiency. MSC chemists continue to bring new innovations to the marketplace, such as using bio-based raw materials, water-borne systems and ambient curing materials. Operationally, MSC continues to strive for reductions in energy and water use, while minimizing emissions and environmental impact.

The purpose of this letter is to confirm that adhesive systems (products detailed below) currently supplied by Momentive Specialty Chemicals, Inc., do not contain urea-formaldehyde that would disqualify it for the credit described as Credit EQ 4.4 for Low Emitting Materials Composite Wood in LEED-NC, Version 2.2, published by the US Green Building Council.
